Port Police Respond to Diving Accident

Japanese tourist transported to Naval Hospital

Piti, Guam, February 6, 2012: At 12:50 pm today Port Police responded to a report of a diving accident located at Outhouse Beach along Route 11 Cabras Island.

When Port Police Officer II F.J. San Nicolas arrived on the scene he observed that members of a diving company were already performing CPR on the victim.

According to San Nicolas, a 29-year-old Japanese tourist was scuba diving with a group of individuals when the incident occurred. Members of the diving company brought the man to shore and administered CPR until medics arrived on the scene. San Nicolas said medics from the Guam Fire Department transferred the man to Naval Hospital.

Information on the victim's condition will need to be obtained from Guam Fire or hospital officials.
